

Save the Date –

Wednesday, October 11, 2006

Guest Lecturer

Barry Scheck

Co-Director

The Innocence Project

Howard University School of Law

C. Clyde Ferguson Jr.
Annual Lecture

Dear Friend,

As of July 2006, the Innocence Project, which uses DNA evidence to exonerate the wrongly convicted, had helped to free over 180 people. The number grows higher with each passing month.

Come to Howard University School of Law on October 11, 2006, for a discussion by Barry Scheck on the astonishing success of the Innocence Project. How has the use of DNA evidence revolutionized the legal system? What are the causes and remedies of wrongful convictions? And what of the wrongly convicted, who lose years of their lives locked away?

Don't miss this important lecture on the future of the criminal justice system.

Mark your calendar now.

---

Wednesday, October 11, 2006

Moot Court Room – 4:00 p.m.

C. Clyde Ferguson Jr. Annual Lecture

Howard University School of Law

2900 Van Ness Street, N.W. • Washington, DC 20008

Barry Scheck has been the co-director of the Innocence Project for over 12 years. Under his leadership, the Innocence Project is now an independent non-profit agency affiliated with Cardozo Law School.

2900 Van Ness Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20008