

Please join us for the White House Champions of Change Event, a national, on-line conversation among law students, public service lawyers, and Attorney General Eric Holder, seeking to get thousands of future agents of legal change talking about what lawyers can do to close the justice gap. The event will illustrate the range and quality of public interest lawyers' accomplishments by honoring 16 exemplar public service Champions at the White House.

Howard Law will host a live streaming broadcast of the event on October 13, 2011 from 2:00 – 3:30p.m. in Classroom 1 (HH) followed by a discussion of how we, as a law school, can help contribute to the fight for social justice.

Please rsvp to craj@law.howard.edu by October 12th if interested in attending.
